The Department of Information Science and Engineering organized a talk on “Evoking the Joy of Life” under Anti Sexual Harassment Committee for all RVITM Students and faculty. The event titled "Evoking the Joy of Life" was a remarkable gathering aimed at exploring the essence of friendship, trust, privacy, and the importance of setting boundaries in relationships. Dr. Shyam Prasad TS, a distinguished Advocate at the High Court of Karnataka, an Educationist, and Research Scholar, led the session with profound insights drawn from his extensive experience in law, education, and social activism.

Objective:

Friendship and Trust: The central theme of the event revolved around the significance of friendship and trust in human relationships. Dr. Shyam Prasad eloquently expressed the essence of genuine companionship and the importance of building trust among individuals. Through anecdotes and personal experiences, he highlighted the value of trusting loved ones and discerning genuine intentions. Background Music Story: Chennai Story: Throughout the session, a captivating background story titled "Chennai Story" unfolded episodically, providing a narrative backdrop to the discussions on trust and privacy. This narrative added depth and context to the conversation, engaging the audience and reinforcing key concepts.

Objective:

The primary objective of the talk was to educate the target participants, including 2nd, 4th, and 6th-semester students from all departments, about the AICTE activities facilitated by U&I. These activities encompass a range of initiatives aimed at enhancing educational quality, fostering innovation, and promoting inclusivity.

Program Highlights:

The discussion extended to the concept of privacy and the significance of sharing intimate aspects of life with trusted confidants. Dr. Shyam Prasad underscored the importance of openness within familial and friendly relationships, noting how sharing concerns and experiences can facilitate mutual support and guidance.
